The culture of the centuries is imbued in places like St. Donatus' Church, town's old Forum, St. Anastasia Bell Tower, Five Wells Square, Land Gate, Captain's Tower and they all stand erect as town's most valuable cultural heritage monuments.

From remnants of ancient past and Venetian rule we bring you to a more futuristic landscape on the city's pier where you can enjoy in the most beautiful sunset in the world intertwined with Nikola Bašić's architectural pieces „Greeting to the Sun“ and „Sea Organs“. They produce a wonderful and unique show of lights and sounds in the rhythm of the sea waves and will give you an entirely original and memorable experience!

To culminate this unique tour we will enrich your experience with an exclusive performance of Dalmatia's most valuable intangible heritage protected by UNESCO that is „klapa“, an a capella type singing performed for you by one of Zadar's best klapa groups „Munita“.

However, in case you thought that was all that we're offering, we have a special tasting of Maraschino drink, an original liquor from Zadar, in a restaurant near the pier reserved exclusively for participants of this tour.

Being rich in cultural heritage on its every corner, the town of Nin is the oldest royal town in Croatia. It is also known as the town of salt which used to be a source of wealth throughout the city's long history. The traditional way of making salt in a naturally and ecologically friendly way is through the use of solar and wind power and this type of tradition is still cultivated in old royal town of Nin. The clean environment, specific climate with many sunshine hours and favourable winds, together with an exceptional geographical position, provide for supreme worldclass quality.

If you want to experience the traditional way of manufacturing salt, or if you're interested in souvenirs made from salt or would like to try "harvesting" salt, come with us on our journey to Nin, where the tradition of saltmaking has been present since ancient times. You will witness how the flora and fauna can live in a symbiosis with man, and you will also be able to find out why the salt flower is the flower of health.

Next to experiencing the traditional ways of salt making, take a stroll through city centre of Nin with us and explore an impressive amount of ancient monuments dating back to 9th century AD. Amongst many of them, we will visit the world's smallest cathedral, the church of the Holy Cross. According to some theories, the design has an intentionally unbalanced elliptical form designated to "follow" the position of the Sun, retaining the functionality of a calendar and sundial.

Considering the amount of ancient history as well as the remnants of it, it is no surprise that Nin holds the title of European Destination of Excellence.
